“But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep.”

— Robert Frost
Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening

Identity, conscience and freedom

Explore twentieth-century literature through poetry, fiction, drama and essays: memory and war, language and identity, conscience and responsibility.

From Frost and Owen to Golding and Shaw, and from Gandhi and Bharati to Tagore, this companion brings literary study into conversation with human freedom and the choices that shape our lives.

Literary movements and terms · Critical study
Detailed summaries · Glossaries · Answered questions
Passage explanations · MCQs · Examination practice

THE LITERARY COMPASS · MGSU

The Literary Compass — SEMESTER IV — Dr. Avinash Jodha

BA ENGLISH LITERATURE
SEMESTER IV · NEP

The Literary Compass

A Complete Companion

Twentieth-Century Literature
Identity, Conscience and Freedom

BASED ON THE SYLLABUS OF
MAHARAJA GANGA SINGH UNIVERSITY

CHIEF EDITOR
Dr. Avinash Jodha