Memory, identity and belonging

Explore Indian Writing in English through poetry, short fiction, the novel, drama and national thought. This companion connects literary history with close reading, placing questions of memory, identity, gender and belonging at the heart of study.

From Toru Dutt and Sarojini Naidu to Ezekiel, Kolatkar and Mamang Dai, the poems reveal a changing literary tradition. Narayan and Ruskin Bond illuminate everyday lives; Markandaya, Dattani and Mitra examine rural hardship, artistic freedom and colonial power. Kalam extends these concerns into shared national responsibility.
